Uncle Sam Says

As you drive along the country roads you will see one of America's most familiar scenes—farmers pitching hay. From this scene has come a phrase you have used many, many times—making hay while the sun shines. Well, niece and nephew, that's exactly what you are doing when you stack up United States Savings Bonds. You're making plenty of future security when the going is good, when a few extra dollars has been added to your take-home pay through the new income tax law . . . and when you should be acting for your future security.

Rat Sets Off Jail Break Alarm in Detroit Prison

DETROIT.—A rat turned in a jail break alarm that sent police scurrying through prisoners' quarters.

Officers who heard the general alarm bell hurriedly converged on all exits to police headquarters. Others checked the cell blocks, but found everything in order.

Then the search was extended to the basement, where Lt. Richard Bowen discovered rats had chewed through a wire. That caused the short circuit and turned on the alarm.

Woman Wins Prizes As Spare Time Hobby

SPRINGFIELD, ILL. — Some women knit and many collect china. Still others prefer to dig in the garden or play bridge. But Mrs. Homer McLaren of Springfield scorns those long-popular feminine pursuits. She likes "contesting."

In four months Mrs. McLaren has reaped a washing machine, radio, radio-phonograph and three $10 prizes for her entries. But then, she's been "contesting" for 10 or 12 years. Mrs. McLaren, author of numerous magazine articles, also teaches a course in "tricks of the contesting trades," at the Springfield community school for adults.

She prescribes her hobby especially for shut-ins, hospitalized veterans, and those who want to forget their troubles.

She said: "It can also keep a good many housewives from turning into neurotics and it's a fine time-killer for commuters."

Mrs. McLaren began entering contests just as a hobby, but she told of one woman who helped support her mother and brother on her prizes. The winnings come in pretty handy, too, around Christmas time.

The whole thing's so easy, the Springfield woman doesn't understand why almost every housewife doesn't take up the hobby.

She continued: "All you have to do is carry around a pad and pencil while you do your work. If an idea strikes you, jot it down." Mrs. McLaren adds that the idea seems to have caught on among a widening number of the public. Publications are sold listing current contests and supplying information on how to become a "winner," and contest clubs have been formed through the country.

Neighbors Plow Land For Hard Luck Farmer

LA CENTER, KY.—Farmers of the Hazelwood community of Ballard county wiped away a pall of despair that had been hanging over the Roy Elrod farm for several days.

Elrod and his boys were facing failure in this crop season because lightning struck their barn and destroyed all their work horses, corn and hay, the farm wagon and many smaller tools.

Then the neighbors gathered—taking time out from their own piled-up chores—and put out the crop the Elrods had planned. Seventeen tractors rolled into the Elrod driveway soon after the sun came up and drivers asked simply to be put to work.

By mid-morning 20 acres of corn land had been plowed and the drills already were in action, and 30 additional acres had been plowed and prepared for soybeans. Later the two-acre tobacco patch was broken, disked and put into shape. The day's work put the Elrod crop plans well ahead of schedule and gave the family a boost that will enable it to put out a normal crop and make up some of the loss resulting from the fire.

G. A. Lynn, one of the tractor operators, said: "We don't think this is out of the ordinary. A man needs help and we give it to him. We believe in helping our neighbors."

Neighbors also plan to rebuild the destroyed barn for the Elrods when lumber becomes available.

Spinster Names Nine Cats Beneficiaries of $75,000

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—Nine cats that comforted an elderly spinster in the last years of her life were named beneficiaries of her trust fund estimated at $75,000.

The will of Mary I. Clay, 72, admitted to probate, estimated her personal property at upwards of $50,000 and her real estate holdings at more than $20,000.

The will provided for hiring a caretaker to "assume full charge of my pets, and the caretaker shall purchase fresh chopped beef, lamb for stewing, canned salmon, milk and bread at cost of at least $5 a week."

The trust fund is to continue in effect for 20 years after which it will be divided equally among three Odd Fellows lodges.

Indian Bridegroom Trades Herd of Horses for Bride

DURANGO, COLO. — A bridegroom doesn't have to be a good horsetrader. But it helps, if he marries according to the centuries-old tribal ritual as Howling Wolf did.

Wolf, flockmaster of the Navajo reservation, was married to Dot Klish near this southwestern Colorado town. The wedding started as he came riding over the mesa, driving horses to be exchanged for his bride.

The parents of the bride inspected the horses and weren't impressed. After considerable argument, the groom agreed to replace two colts in the herd with two full-grown horses.

The bride's uncle sprinkled a circular ring and cross of the sacred blue pollen of the larkspur upon a basket of porridge. The bride sat on the west side of the hogan, her prospective husband joined her, and the porridge was placed between them.

Careful to use the first two fingers of his right hand, the man took a pinch of the porridge from the east side of the basket and ate it. His wife-to-be did the same. They proceeded in this manner until they had completed the circle and taken a final pinch from the center.

Should the wife ever want a divorce, it's simple. She simply will toss her husband's saddle from their hogan.

Texans Seek Vets' Criticism Of Their State—and Get It!

MADISONVILLE, TEX. — Members of the Madisonville Sidewalk Cattlemen's association are plowing through big stacks of mail, looking for insults and finding plenty.

The sidewalk cattlemen announced a nation-wide contest. They are searching for the out-of-state veteran, trained in Texas, who has the worst opinion of the Lone Star state. They want to bring him back on a big, free trip and show him that Texas, in peace time, isn't a bad place at all.

Contest letters are piling up and the cattlemen, patriotic Texans all, are reading them with grim, set faces.

Here are samples:

"First contest I ever heard of where the winner loses," a Los Angeles veteran wrote. "Who'd want to go back to Texas?"

The wife of an Ohio veteran said: "My husband says in the next war he'll take his basic training at the battlefront and then, if ordered, move up to Texas."

"We're going to bring the winner back and let him see Texas without the burden of army camp life," the cattlemen say. "Any place looks better from a motor car window than it does from a field pack and army camps weren't located for scenic reasons."

Uncle Sam Says

The dollars my young nieces and nephews earn this summer can give them a stake in the future and help keep the country's economy running on an even keel. By investing as much of their summertime earnings in United States Savings Bonds as possible, junior and sis will be building a nestegg for achievement of future goals. It's up to us grownups who have learned how big a nestegg we can accumulate through the payroll savings plan for buying savings bonds to impress upon Sis and Junior that the future holds for them what they hold for the future.

Cat Retrieves Mice to Earn His Daily Crackers and Milk

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—A big black cat named "Eight-Ball" is guardian and retriever in a mousery at nearby Avon, where white mice are bred for use in medical research. In his duties, Eight-Ball has a thousand strains put on his innate desire to kill mice. One lapse, however, would mean his permanent exile and loss of the softest touch a cat might ever have in his nine lives.

He aids his master, J. Louis Cleaver, a former Rochester school teacher, by corraling mice that escape from any of the several thousand breeding cages. He gathers errant ones into his mouth and returns them to Cleaver.

His reward for bringing them back alive is a dish of mashed crackers and cream.

Richmond, June 23.-A new regulation by the State Highway Commission this week is of interest to persons who plan to construct roadway entrances to commercial establishments in Appomattox County.

Section 21 of the Commission's Rules and Regulations will provide that "no commercial entrance shall be constructed to intersect with the right of way line of any highway in the State Highway System until a permit first obtained...."

The permit will be issued by the State Highway Department, road officials explained, if the entrance is constructed in accordance with minimum standards set forth by the department.

The standards are on file at highway headquarters in Richmond and at all district and residency offices.

It has long been the policy of the Highway Department to regulate commercial entrances, a department spokesman said. By making the standards a part of official rules and regulations the Highway Commission is giving them the full force and effect of law.

The Appomattox and Pamplin School Community Canneries will open July 2, at 8:00 A. M.

Schedule for Appomattox:

Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday for white patrons.

Monday and Thursday for colored patrons.

Schedule for Pamplin:

Tuesday, Thursday and Friday for white patrons.

Wednesday for colored patrons.

This cannery will open Monday whenever the amount to be canned justifies additional time.

Only tin cans may be used, which can be purchased at the cannery.

Bring your own supplies, such as salt, dish towels, hand towels, knives, soap, pans and any other utensils needed.

You are requested to prepare your produce and clean up before 5 P. M., the closing hour of the cannery.

Bring only high quality produce to the cannery. You may expect to get out of your can a product no better than the one you put into it. For a good product pick it only a few hours before you come to the cannery. Some changes in flavor and texture are due to the action of enzymes. These changes begin to occur as soon as the product is picked. The sugar in corn changes to starch; apples become mealy; small fruits lose flavor and become soft. Fermentation, accompanied by the formation of gas, causes food to be sour and poison. This is caused by bacteria which gain entrance to your can. You may prevent some of this by steaming and sterilizing the can before using.

Flat Sour is the cause of most of our spoilage. Flat Sour is an acid usually present in corn, beans and peas. It is caused by bacteria that grows in the best of food when it is kept at moderately warm temperature. Flat Sour will develop under any of the following conditions:

1. The product is kept warm for some time after harvesting before canning.

2. The canned product cools too slowly after canning.

3. The canned product is stored in a warm place.

4. The product is canned in too large a container such as canning corn in No. 3 can when it should be in a No. 2 can.

5. The product is packed in the can too tightly.

Place your cans in cold water when you get home and leave overnight, then dry and place in a cool place for storage.
